

Caldwell, James E. (1890)

November 17, 1890

✓ P.H. 2000

2

After 5 days, return to JAMES E. CALDWELL & CO., 902 Chestnut Street,
PHILADELPHIA, PA.

Messrs. A. H. & H. J. Chapman,

1348 Pine St.

Phila

November 1, 1902

Caldwell, James E. (+ o.)

[Signed by Horace M. Combes]

postcard only.

Philadelphia,
Pa.

Nov 5th

1902

Dear Sirs:

We are in receipt of your package of coins. Will report at our earliest opportunity. Thanks

J. E. CALDWELL & CO.

Horace M. Caldwell

POSTAL CARD: ONE CENT.

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

THIS SIDE IS FOR THE ADDRESS ONLY.

Miss. S. H. & H. Chapman

1348 Pine St.

Philadelphia.

Caldwell, James E. (+ o.)

November 5, 1902

[same date as previous]

J. E. CALDWELL & CO

Diamond Merchants

JEWELLERS AND SILVERSMITHS

902 CHESTNUT STREET

PHILADELPHIA

November 5, 1902.

Messrs. S. H. & H. Chapman, Jr.,

#1348 Pine Street,

Philadelphia, Pa.

Gentlemen:-

Please send by bearer several specimen antique coins of middle value. Requisite size is that of a half dollar.

Very truly yours,

1991, p. 115).

It is also important to note that the concept of the "ideal" or "best"

is not always

the same for all people (Bograd et al., 1991).

For example, one person may consider the "ideal" to be the one who has

the most money,

another may consider

the "ideal" to be the one who has

the most power,

another may consider

the "ideal" to be

the one who has

the most knowledge,

another may consider

the "ideal" to be the one who has

the most friends,

another may consider

the "ideal" to be

the one who has

the most family support.

Thus, the concept of the "ideal" or "best" is not the same for all people (Bograd et al., 1991).

It is also important to note that the concept of the "ideal" or "best" is not the same for all people (Bograd et al., 1991).

For example, one person may consider the "ideal" to be the one who has the most money, another may consider the "ideal" to be the one who has the most power, another may consider the "ideal" to be the one who has the most knowledge,

another may consider the "ideal" to be the one who has the most friends, another may consider the "ideal" to be the one who has the most family support.

Thus, the concept of the "ideal" or "best" is not the same for all people (Bograd et al., 1991).

It is also important to note that the concept of the "ideal" or "best" is not the same for all people (Bograd et al., 1991).

For example, one person may consider the "ideal" to be the one who has the most money,

another may consider the "ideal" to be the one who has the most power, another may consider the "ideal" to be the one who has the most knowledge,

another may consider the "ideal" to be the one who has the most friends, another may consider the "ideal" to be the one who has the most family support.

Thus, the concept of the "ideal" or "best" is not the same for all people (Bograd et al., 1991).

It is also important to note that the concept of the "ideal" or "best" is not the same for all people (Bograd et al., 1991).

For example, one person may consider the "ideal" to be the one who has the most money,

another may consider the "ideal" to be the one who has the most power, another may consider the "ideal" to be the one who has the most knowledge,

another may consider the "ideal" to be the one who has the most friends, another may consider the "ideal" to be the one who has the most family support.

Thus, the concept of the "ideal" or "best" is not the same for all people (Bograd et al., 1991).

It is also important to note that the concept of the "ideal" or "best" is not the same for all people (Bograd et al., 1991).

For example, one person may consider the "ideal" to be the one who has the most money,

another may consider the "ideal" to be the one who has the most power, another may consider the "ideal" to be the one who has the most knowledge,

another may consider the "ideal" to be the one who has the most friends, another may consider the "ideal" to be the one who has the most family support.

Caldwell

Co 11/5/02 -

TO TURN IN 5 DAYS TO

J. E. CALDWELL & CO.
902 CHESTNUT STREET,
PHILADELPHIA

Mess. S. H. & H. Chapman, Jr.,

#1348 Pine Street,

Philadelphia, Pa.

Wed not later than 2 PM

Await old coins.

Caldwell, James E. (+ co.)

[Signed by H.M. Combes]

November 17, 1902

J. E. CALDWELL & CO

Diamond Merchants

JEWELLERS AND SILVERSMITHS

902 CHESTNUT STREET

PHILADELPHIA. November 17, 1902.

Messrs. S. H. & H. Chapman,

#1348 Pine St.,

Philadelphia, Pa.

Gentlemen:-

We return herewith the coin sent us on memorandum on the 5th instant.

With very many thanks for your courtesy, and with regret that we have not been able to effect a sale, we are,

Very truly yours,

*J. E. Caldwell & Co.
J. M. Comly.*

Caldwell

Retired 1867 E

Am. Fisher

RETURN IN 5 DAYS TO
J. E. CALDWELL & CO.,
902 CHESTNUT STREET,
PHILADELPHIA.

Messrs. T. H. & H. Chapman
1348 Pine St.

Mon.
with 20 coins.

Philadelphia.